Travelstead Found Guilty of Murdering Wife

Jury Fixes
Sentence at Life in PrisonAttorneys to File Motion
For New Trial

MARION, Ill. (CP)—A Williamson County jury Friday night found Leon Travelstead, 37, guilty of the murder of his estranged wife, Jean, 26, and fixed his sentence at life imprisonment after deliberating about 2 1/2 hours.

Attorneys for Travelstead, a Marion truck driver, said they would ask for a new trial. Circuit Judge Clarence E. Wright instructed them to file the motion next week.

Travelstead shot his wife last May 3 in a tavern here after spending most of the day with her at her attorney's office discussing her divorce suit against him. Mrs. Travelstead was wounded in the abdomen and died a short time later.

Travelstead took the stand when the jury was absent from the courtroom in an unsuccessful effort to refute two signed statements he made to Sheriff Ora Kirby and his deputies. Travelstead claimed he was forced to sleep on a cot without a mattress and that the sheriff promised to help him if he signed the statements.

Kirby and former Chief Deputy Charles Edwards, now Marion police chief, said they made no promises of leniency.

Travelstead said he did not remember reading the statements he signed. He said he was "blacked out" from the time he entered the tavern on a Monday night until the following Friday. He also said he did not remember firing six shots at his wife, one of which hit her.

In the statements Travelstead made to the sheriff he recalled making a date with his wife to meet her at the tavern and then going to his car and getting a revolver he purchased in Ohio the previous week.

Judge Wright ruled out attempts by the defense to show that Mrs. Travelstead had been out with another man or men the Saturday before she was shot and that Travelstead learned of it.

Cartoonist George
McManus Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (CP)—George McManus, the dean of American cartoonists, died Friday night.

The 70-year-old creator of Maggie and Jiggs in "Bringing Up Father" was admitted to St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica early Friday. He died of a heart attack, his physician reported.

The cartoonist had suffered from a liver infection for five months and was hospitalized earlier this year.

McManus and his invalid widow, Florence, resided in Beverly Hills for 25 years after the affable Irishman left New York where his cartoons brought him international recognition.

Tornado Hits
Portland, Texas

By United Press
A tornado accompanied by heavy rains demolished seven homes, tore off porches and knocked out windows at Portland, Tex., Friday night.

One woman was injured when the twister overturned her house trailer. No one was killed.

The heavy rains continued early today.

Los Angeles, meanwhile, suffered through its 16th day of smog. Five oil companies rejected a plea by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to shut down refineries in a test to determine how much they contribute to the smog.

Elsewhere across the country, it was generally fair and warmer except west of the Rocky Mountains.

David Barnes, 80, who lived near Galatia, died yesterday at 9 p. m. at his home.

The body is now at the A. K. Moore funeral home in Equality where it will remain until funeral time. Funeral plans will be announced later.

NASHVILLE, Ill. (CP)—The body of Carl Zerze, 61-year-old printer-musician convicted of counterfeiting who died Friday at the Federal Medical Center, Springfield, Mo., will be brought here for burial.

Zerze, who was arrested with Elmer Hake, 67, Nashville, last June, admitted printing about $8,000 worth of phony $10 bills. He was sentenced to two years in the medical center because of an illness he had for some time before his arrest.

Hake, a former State Highway Department employee, was convicted on charges of possession and passing counterfeit money and is to be sentenced Tuesday.

Paducah, Oak

Reject OfferThird Rejection
Leaves Employees Free
To Strike Oct. 30

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (CP)—Some 4,420 workers who produce the nation's entire supply of uranium-235 for atomic bombs Friday night overwhelmingly rejected for the third time a pay raise offer and were free to strike Oct. 30.

The total vote by workers at plants here and at Paducah, Ky., was 3,557 to 863 against acceptance of the six cents an hour increase.

The 3,500 workers at the huge Oak Ridge plant voted down the proposal 2,747 to 616. The Paducah workers rejected it 733 to 129.

They will be authorized to strike Oct. 30 when an 80-day "cooling off" period, enforced by an injunction obtained under the Taft-Hartley law, expires.

The 80-day no-strike injunction was obtained through Justice Department attorneys at the request of President Eisenhower, who said an atomic plant was one place where a strike could not be tolerated.

It was the third time the members of the Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers Union (CIO) had turned down the offer by the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corp., which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The union, which is seeking a 15-cent increase, had urged its members to reject the wage offer. Present pay scale for production workers averages $1.58 an hour.

Before the vote results were announced Friday night, company and union officials had agreed to meet Monday with Federal Mediator E. F. Hitchcock in a new series of bargaining sessions.

Labor Department
Report Shows
Unemployment Drop

WASHINGTON (CP)—An employment upturn in the auto industry has helped push the number of persons receiving unemployment payments to the lowest level since last December, a government report showed today.

The Labor Department report said 1,458,000 jobless persons drew unemployment benefits in the week ended Oct. 9. This was a drop of 55,400 from the previous week and 794,900 below the 1954 peak of 2,253,000 reached late last February.

A major factor in the decline of jobless payments was the stepped up activity of the auto industry, particularly in Michigan, the report said.

The Commerce Department reported earlier this month that a total of 3,099,000 persons were unemployed at mid-September. This included those drawing compensation payments as well as those no longer eligible.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell predicted Friday that unemployment in October may drop below 3,000,000 for the first time this year.

He based his estimate "on reports we are getting of reduced unemployment compensation claims and increased factory hirings."

WORK IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY AT THE DAM SITE OF THE NEW LAKE HARRISBURG, as can be seen by this panoramic view from a hill looking toward Route 34 that leads into Galatia. Five scrapers, or dirt movers, six tractors, a bulldozer to loosen up the ground for the scrapers to move it to the dam, and two sheep's foot dirt packers are being used at this south end of the lake by the J. D. Barter Construction Co., contractor. To date, 20,000 yards of dirt have been moved in the construction of the dam out of a total 104,000 that must be moved. Far to the north James Atchley of St. Elmo, sub-contractor, is clearing the trees out of the water area. When completed the dam will be 38 feet high, 1,000 feet long. The lake will cover approximately 300 acres of the 580 acres bought by the city and will have a 900,000,000 gallon capacity, enough for three years (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Nixon Under
Demo Fire; GOP
Blasts Harriman

WASHINGTON (CP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon came under heavy Democratic fire today while New York Republicans let go another blast at Democratic gubernatorial candidate Averell Harriman.

As the last full week of campaigning before the Nov. 2 election approached, both sides pounded each other with some of the sharpest blows of the campaign in speeches Friday night.

Today, President Eisenhower planned to take another hand in the campaigning—but in a less spectacular fashion than the men on the stump. He invited 150 Pennsylvania Republican leaders and candidates to a lunch and pep talk at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Stevenson Leads Attack

Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, led the attack on Nixon. In a speech at Milwaukee, Wis., he said it appeared that under Nixon's leadership the "great crusade" is "going to end up this critical campaign on the elevated note of subversion, perversion and denunciation of President Truman."

"I suppose that's what they call McCarthyism in a white collar," Stevenson declared.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said Nixon was one of the Republican leaders who had "perverted" and "distorted" the administration's security program and had used it "as a political weapon."

The liberal Americans for Democratic Action organization accused the vice president of "trying to make a phony political issue" of its anti-Communist record.

Welcomes Red Opposition

Nixon, meanwhile, declared in Montana that the Communist Party has called for the defeat of all GOP candidates in next month's election. He said he had learned that the Reds had decided to "fight out the issues within the Democratic Party."

"We welcome the opposition of the Communist Party in this campaign," the vice president said. The latest attack on Harriman was launched by retiring New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. He accused Harriman and his associates of making "millions" in a mining deal in which "deliberately misinformed investors" lost five million dollars.

Harriman Charges "Smear"

Harriman immediately called the campaign "distortion and smear" and said he would "continue to discuss the issues." Dewey said another "chapter" in the life of Harriman would be revealed tonight in a speech by Sen. Irving M. Ives, Harriman's Republican foe.

At Albuquerque, N. M., Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said he and House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn have already worked out a tentative legislative program if the Democrats win control of the new Congress.

He said the program, complete to naming of Democratic committee chairman, would "pledge complete cooperating with President Eisenhower in a single-purpose defense program, an adequate defense program, and a thorough investigation of the 'Nixon-Dixon-Yates' deal."

Dale Trial to Begin Nov. 29

EAST ST. LOUIS (CP)—Asst. U. S. Atty. Edwin G. Maag announced today that the trial of Evan R. Dale, southern Illinois boss of the AFL Building Laborers, and James Bateman on extortion charges will start here Nov. 29.

Maag and Tom De Wolfe, special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, said Dale and Bateman will be tried on charges of extorting $7,500 and attempting to extort $1,030,000 from Ebasco Services Inc., builders of the atomic energy plant at Jopka. They also are charged with conspiracy.

Dale has been indicted five times by the grand jury. One indictment includes 30 counts.

Dixon-Yates
Probe Promised
If Demos Win

WASHINGTON (CP)—Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson Friday night pledged a sweeping investigation of the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract if Democrats win control of the 84th Congress.

He told reporters in Albuquerque, N. M., that one item of the program Democrats will follow if they win next month's congressional election will be a "thorough ventilation of the 'Nixon-Dixon-Yates' deal."

Johnson added, without elaboration, that he "wouldn't be surprised" if some charges were filed after congressional hearings on the administration-sponsored contract.

Meanwhile, Arkansas banker Arthur E. McLean said before he finishes fighting a two million dollar damage suit filed against him by the Arkansas Power and Light Co. "They may want to give me a million dollars to shut up."

McLean, who blasted the Arkansas utility company in two appearances before the Senate Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, said he is sure he can substantiate his charges of corruption against AP&L.

The firm filed suit Friday against McLean, president of the Commercial National Bank in Little Rock. It claimed two million dollars in damages for "malicious, false and slanderous statements" made by the banker. The suit was based on speeches in Arkansas and not his subcommittee testimony.

Mendes-France
Invited to Pay
Visit to U. S.

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States has invited French Premier Mendes-France to pay an official visit here despite diplomatic ups and downs between this country and his government.

The White House announced Friday night that Mendes-France will come here next month for meetings with President Eisenhower. The announcement came as the French premier and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer struggled in Paris to save the West German rearmament agreement from disaster.

Mendes-France, who has been one of the most difficult statesmen for American officials to figure out, will come here from Canada for a lunch with the President on Nov. 18.

First Suspicious of Premier

During his two-day visit, the premier is expected to address the National Press club and hold talks with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He also will visit New York and the United Nations.

Dulles and his top aides were openly suspicious of Mendes-France when he took over French leadership during the Geneva conference on Korea and Indochina. Fearing a French sellout, top American representatives were withdrawn from the Indochina phase of the Geneva talks. Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles agreed to send former undersecretary of state Walter Bedell Smith to the talks as an observer when it appeared that Mendes-France was negotiating a truce with the Communists.

Mendes-France stock edged up in American diplomatic circles for awhile and then plummeted when France killed the European Defense Community plan in late August.

FOA Denies Sen.
McCarthy Charge
Of Lag in Aid

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Foreign Operations Administration has denounced as "entirely untrue" Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's charge that it is "dragging its feet" on aid to the anti-Communist government of Guatemala.

William J. Caldwell, FOA director of reports, said the agency has increased technical aid to Guatemala "almost 1,000 per cent" since the pro-Communist government was overthrown in June.

McCarthy (R-Wis.) fired a telegram to Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen Friday asking for a report on "any aid given to Guatemala in any form since the new anti-Communist government took over."

McCarthy also asked for figures on U. S. aid before the pro-Communist government was overthrown.

Caldwell, answering for Stassen who is abroad, declared that "The United States has moved promptly in extending additional aid to the new non-Communist government of Guatemala."

Settle Dispute
On Future of Saar

PARIS (CP)—The United States, Britain, Canada and 12 nations of West Europe today signed a set of history-making documents creating a West European defense union which includes a freed and rearmament Germany.

The far-reaching agreements, embodied in 12 separate documents, were hailed by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as "a near miracle."

Their signing was made possible when Europe's age-old enemies—France and Germany—settled their dispute over the future of the industry-rich Saar, in an 11th hour conference.

The documents signed today will:

1. Restore Germany's sovereignty, end the allied occupation and authorize Germany to raise a 500,000-man army to join in the defense of West Europe.

2. Bring the new Germany within an enlarged Brussels and North Atlantic Treaty alliance.

New Defense Union

3. Create a new "West European Union" which will be the key-stone of European defense and American and British policy in Europe.

Specialized additional documents spell out in detail the various other agreements reached here on such vital issues as the Saar, control of troop strength of the rearmament Germany and supervision of Europe's arms production.

The four documents restoring Germany sovereignty first were signed by the United States, Britain, France and Germany.

Then the seven nations forming the new West European Union—Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—affixed their names to four more documents.

Finally all 14 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and West Germany signed the documents making the newly freed Germany the 15th member of that alliance.

All must be approved by the signatory powers—either through ratification or by some less involved process.

Ratification still presents admitted hazards in both Germany and France, and especially in the latter.

While the documents signed here attempt to bury the age-old enmities of the neighbor nations that have engaged in two great wars within a generation, suspicion of the Germans remains deep in the hearts of Frenchmen.

Shortly before the signing ceremonies began, the French Cabinet announced its approval of the Saarland settlement negotiation by Mendes-France and authorized the hard-driving premier to sign for France the historic documents au-

Cleaning Up The Housing Mess

Editorial
BY LEONARD RUPPERT
The ugly mess housing scandal has been growing in size every day. And Attorney General Brownell has now taken concrete action to see that the parties who caused the mess will be swiftly hauled into court.

He has set up a special new unit in the Justice Department's criminal division to handle such cases exclusively. (The case-load has grown so big, he says, that the frauds division alone gets 10 or more new ones a day.)

Brownell will seek his indictments from a special federal grand jury panel, which was drawn at his own request and already has opened hearings. He has asked it to probe "specifically" the conduct of Clyde L. Powell, the ousted assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

In a six-months investigation by the Senate Banking Committee, Powell has been under heavy fire. The committee developed testimony that he sought both bribes and loans from builders working on housing contracts, and he banked, in a 10-year period, nearly three times his government salary.

On three different occasions, Powell refused to answer the charges by invoking the Fifth Amendment.

He has since tried to halt the grand jury probe on the grounds that it isn't legal. He calls it an outright "political" move made with the coming elections in mind—a plea that was quickly rejected by a judge of the District Court.

Court decision or no, the charge that Brownell has political motives is likely to be repeated. And it certainly must be admitted that his timing could hardly be better.

The fact remains, nevertheless, that the taxpayer U. S. public has been bilked of millions of dollars. There clearly was widespread corruption, and those who are thought to be guilty should be brought to trial at the earliest date—even if Brownell tries them on the Monday before election.

The biggest culprit of all, of course, can never be brought to trial. We refer to the government housing law which allowed this mess in the first place.

When FHA was created, there were serious national housing needs which demanded a flexible housing system. But the law by which it was born did not include adequate safeguards.

It permitted employees of FHA to use the widest discretion in doling out huge sums of money. It permitted private building promoters to invest a few thousand dollars and reap a "windfall" of millions in all a way that was technically "legal."

Such a law invited corruption, and corruption is what it brought.

Just for Pleasure

A little while ago a writer named Hal Borland, writing in the New York Times Magazine, suggested that somebody could make a lot of friends by proposing to build a winding dirt road leading nowhere in particular.

Said Borland: "Such roads will be open only to motorists tired of queuing across the country at 70 miles an hour. They will be built for dawdling, for stopping on hilltops, for parking on curves, for wild-flower admiring, for bird-watching—for all the things the prudent motorist simply can't or shouldn't do on a four-lane highway."

We understand what inspires Borland to this proposal. Modern turnpikes and superhighways are magnificent. They are engineered for safety and give you more of it than any other roads. They give you peace of mind and more physical ease.

But racing over them almost neutralizes the scenery. Except in places where mountains just demand your interest, the land alongside a turnpike can seem as impersonal as the grass covering a modern airport.

Brother Borland has a point.

Illinois Vote Could Be Record for Off-Year Election Because of Unusual Interest in State

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—When voters go to the polls on Nov. 2 they will be faced with three proposals to amend the state constitution. One is the publicized senatorial reapportionment amendment. The other two (1) increase the term of state treasurer from two years to four years, and (2) authorize the state to sell or lease the 92-mile long abandoned Illinois-Michigan Canal.

The reapportionment would divide control of the General Assembly. Cook county would get the house by a narrow margin and downstate would have perpetual control of the senate by a wide margin. Each proposal to pass must have a majority of the total vote cast at the election or a two-thirds majority of the votes cast on it, whichever fits the situation.

Major party leaders have been shy in estimating the vote which will be cast in the Illinois election. But indications are it could be a record vote for an off-year election because of so many local propositions such as bond issues which together with the three constitutional amendments and the warm contest between Meek and Douglas.

The vote in 1950, last off-year, when U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas, Havana, was unseated by Everett M. Dirksen, Pekin, was 3,731,618. In 1946 when Congressman-at-large Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, wife of Governor William G. Stratton, later to be elected governor, the vote was 3,619,332. The vote in 1942 was 3,049,312. In the 1952 presidential election 4,563,305 ballots were cast.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, has taken down the painting of former U. S. Sen. James Hamilton Lewis, Chicago, from its place in the first floor lobby of the statehouse where it was displayed under floodlights for some years. James M. Walsh, Springfield, statehouse custodian, indicated it will be hung with past greats on another floor.

But still hanging just outside of the second floor office of Governor William G. Stratton in the same spot where it has been for many years is the painting of the late Henry T. Kane, Carrollton, speaker of the National House of Representatives in the thirties. The painting which was donated by the late Cong. Kent E. Keller, Ava, was hung in 1937 when the late Henry Horner was governor.

Still to be hung in the Governor's office alongside those of former other governors, is the painting of Adlai E. Stevenson, Stratton's predecessor and the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952. An appropriation of $2,500 thorizing German rearmament. Moscow also got into the act by handing the diplomatic representatives of the United States, Britain and France a new note on German and European security problems.

The Kremlin note was in answer to a Sept. 10 note from the three Western powers offering to meet Russia in a conference on those issues if Moscow first agreed to free all German elections in the Soviet as well as the Western zones of Germany.

Contents Not Revealed
There was no immediate indication of the contents of the Soviet reply.

The attention of Western diplomats and their governments centered instead on the dramatic signing ceremonies in Paris.

Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Mendes-France and Adenauer began the two-hour signing in the grand dining room of the Quai d'Orsay, ushering in what they hopefully forecast will be a new era in European and world relations.

The final obstacle to the signing was removed in a fatiguing all-night negotiations on the Saar issue between Mendes-France and Adenauer.

Mendes-France, with the backing of his cabinet, announced Friday that France would sign nothing today, unless the Saar dispute was first satisfactorily settled.

In their marathon conference, Adenauer conceded to partial Europeanization of the coal and steel-rich 900-square-mile area under a high commissioner to be appointed by the new Western European Union.

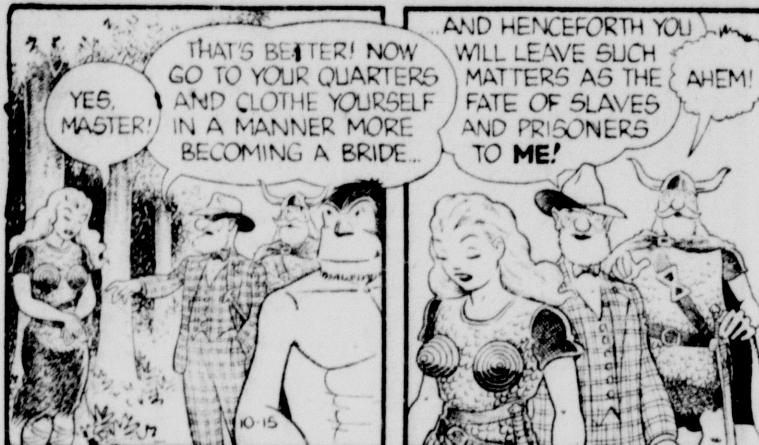

Agreement also was reached for a referendum in the Saarland within three months, after which anyone attempting to overthrow the settlement will be prosecuted. France agreed to free the banned pro-German Saarland parties to take part in the referendum.

Have You Considered the Effect of
Your "Yes" Vote for The "Blue Bailor" Amendment?

Before you vote November 2 on the proposal to reapportion the legislative districts of Illinois, get the answers to these simple important questions:

1. "What benefits will it bring to me personally?"
2. "What advantages will it bring Saline County?"
3. "Will it make it easier or harder to enact good legislation for the State of Illinois?"
4. "What desirable law or laws can be more easily or more certainly enacted under a reapportionment than by the present makeup of the Legislature?"
5. "Will the redistricting give the people of Saline County greater or less representation in the General Assembly?"
6. There is not a single state in the Union whose Constitution provides that any one county shall control the House or Senate of their Legislators. Should Cook County control the House of our General Assembly?

Unless you can get satisfactory answers to these questions, would you not be wise to vote against the scheme?

Eisenhower Sees World Close to Permanent Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told a national committee for a stronger United Nations he believes the world will come very close to permanent peace during our time.

Meeting with 55 members of the U. S. Committee for the United Nations, Mr. Eisenhower said the members have contributed toward peace in their efforts on behalf of the United Nations.

Mr. Eisenhower said Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the U. N., recently advised him that there has been a constant improvement around the globe in support of the United Nations.

West Shows Little Optimism to Talks On Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia and the West were in agreement today on procedure for setting up private talks on disarmament.

But, of the Western Powers, only France was optimistic on the outcome of the discussions.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky agreed Friday in the United Nations to co-sponsor, with the Western Powers, a resolution referring the questions of arms reduction to a subcommittee of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

David M. Johnson of Canada, whose government was original sponsor of the resolution, announced Vishinsky's agreement but warned "against any hasty or irresponsible optimism."

98-Pound Woman Shoots, Stabs, Beats Ex-Husband

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) — A tiny, 98-pound woman who shot, stabbed and beat her 160-pound ex-husband was free on probation today because he furnished her bond.

Mrs. Betty Mae Hasselquist, 48, was given three years' probation after the charge against her was reduced from attempted murder to assault with a deadly weapon and she pleaded guilty.

Roy Hasselquist, 55, her divorced husband, came to Mrs. Hasselquist's home to use the telephone last April 19. Mrs. Hasselquist, who is only 4 feet 11 inches in height, shot him in the thigh with a .22 caliber rifle, cut him on the hands and arms with a butcher knife and beat him on the head with a hammer.

Outlook for Farm Prices

Here's a quick look at the outlook for farm prices as seen by agricultural economist L. J. Norton of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Corn: Prices will probably average a little better than last year. There is a somewhat smaller corn crop due to losses in the drouth area, but the reduction is partially offset by higher production of oats and other feed grains.

Soybeans: A somewhat larger soybean crop will be likely to sell at a lower average price than the 1953 crop.

Hogs: Somewhat larger marketings of hogs will sell at a lower average price than during the past year.

Cattle: The remainder of the fed cattle crop bought in 1953-54 is apparently going to sell well. There should be a rather steady level of cattle prices, with usual seasonal variations. But feeders are costing more than they did a year ago, so cattle-feeding profits may not turn out to be so favorable as they have been in the past 12 months.

Milk: Prices until April 1953 will average lower than those of this past year but probably will go higher after that date. The volume of milk sold will be down a little.

Eggs: The volume of eggs marketed has been up, and prices have averaged lower. This situation is likely to continue until farm flocks are reduced, and at prevailing poultry prices this will be a slow process.

Persons who soon expect to transplant shrubs or small trees ought to be planning where they are to be placed. Most such plants may be transplanted satisfactorily after the leaves have fallen in autumn or early winter.

In transplanting shrubs and trees dig a large enough hole in the soil to permit roots to be spread in their new home as they were in their original location. Then prune the tops by thinning out the branches so as to balance with the roots. Such pruning should be a thinning practice which will help the plant develop in its natural shape.

In planting flowering shrubs or hardy flowering plants, group planting usually is better for ornamental attractiveness than is planting in a single row.

Here is an idea for storing semi-perishable produce out of doors during the winter months in southern Illinois. It is an application of the old pit-type storage that man has used since pioneer days.

Just dig a good-sized hole in the ground and place in it a large tile set upright, filling in the space around it with soil. Cover with some kind of removable lid and put such cool storage produce as turnips and apples inside. The foods will keep well and there will be no layers of dirt to scratch through in removing some. Additional insulating material—straw, leaves, or similar coverage—may be needed over the lid of the tile during more extreme temperature drops to keep the produce from freezing.

Farmers who are milking cows and wondering about their production plans for the next year might take a look at three factors that will influence the returns.

1. The 1954 milk output will be nearly 125 billion pounds, an increase of nearly 3.9 billion pounds over 1953 even though there was a sharp seasonal production drop as a result of hot dry weather.
2. There still are a few more daily cows than there were in 1953—about 300,000 more. That is not as fast as they had been growing in numbers but still indicates a heavier fall and winter milk production.

3. Condensery milk prices are considerably lower than average when considered in comparison to hog and beef prices.

Even though the number of cows on dairy farms may decline as farmers make adjustments because of lower prices, the future volume of milk production may continue to be large. This could come from having better cows, improved roughages, and better pasture and herd management.

In today's highly competitive agricultural business the farmer needs to consider all the angles and try to adjust his farming program accordingly.

Gardeners Overlook Winter Cover Crops

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Too many gardeners overlook the value of a green winter cover crop for their vegetable gardens, says William T. Andrew, vegetable specialist at Southern Illinois university.

A surprising number of persons lose interest in the garden when the vegetable harvest is finished. They just leave old plants and weeds lie on the ground to harbor insects and diseases until the gardening interest hits again in the spring. Such lack of a good cover crop fosters soil erosion and allows plant nutrients to leach or wash away.

Almost any good green crop will look better in the winter than a garden plot of left-over vegetable plants and mud. Andrew suggests winter rye rather than legumes for a cover crop because it will produce more organic matter in shorter time. Organic matter is what many garden soils in southern Illinois need, he says. Nitrogen fertilizer may be added to the soil to take the place of that which might have been fixed from the air by legumes.

Sow the rye as soon as it is too late to plant another crop of vegetables. Broadcast two or three pounds of seed per 1,000 square feet of space and rake it into the soil with a garden rake or a hand cultivator. Rye may be sown between the rows of late vegetables a little before the first killing frost occurs. In southern Illinois winter oats will serve well for cover.

Rye (or oats) makes an excellent green manure crop to be plowed down in the spring when gardening time arrives. Its penetrating roots will hold the soil and will bring up plant nutrients where they will be available for shallow-rooted vegetables next year.

4-H Club Steer Show

The fat steer show and sale will be held for the 4-H club members with beef calf projects in Evansville, Indiana, Saturday, October 23, 10:00 A. M.

This show includes club members from Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky. Saline county will have five Hereford steers in the show and sale. Those showing are Donald Bramlet, Robert Bramlet, Henry Bramlet, Katherine Wright, and Jimmy Wright.

The show is held at the stock yards which are located near the north edge of Evansville, Indiana. After the show the sale starts in the afternoon about 1:30 with buyers from several packing firms, restaurants, hotels, and locker plants competing for the prime steers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson recently warned turkey growers to reduce production below expected levels in 1954 or be faced with lower prices next fall. Turkey poult and chick replacements are above the level of March last year.

XXVI
An echo of Philip Stenoeman's code flashed through Jim's mind. "You planned for money, a husband for Mrs. Kit, and an easy life?"
"Yes," Kit answered. "You try to make it sound horrible. I don't know why you should. Sue and I were left alone when our parents died. We had to plan, because we had our own way to make. Sue went to work in a private home, worked up until she got good money as a cook. We didn't see each other much, and then only in secret. We'd decided I was to have schooling. Sue made the money to keep us alive, but I worked hard too. And now, well, I'm married to Peter Carlson, and I could pretend to hire Sue as my cook, so we could share."
Jim said, "Didn't the San Francisco police find out your true relationship?"
Mrs. Gelstrap giggled. "No, they didn't. We covered it well. I kept in the background, gave money and advice while Kit—" she hesitated.
"Shopped around?" Jim suggested.
"That isn't quite the way to put it," Kit said seriously. "Sue always said it was just as easy to fall in love with a man with money. And I want you to get one thing straight. Peter is my husband now, and we're very much in love."
"Why isn't he around to help you now?"
"Peter is afraid of Mrs. Hilton. Actually afraid. You've seen that horrid whip. He—Peter has told me of his mother's sudden rages, of the beatings she gave him as a child. Beatings for him, and for his sister Angelica too."
Jim was much interested to learn that Mrs. Kit was far enough outside the family circle so she had not been told that Angelica was Agnes Argyle's daughter.
"You brought up the fact Mrs. Argyle was in California at the time of the tragedy there. Do you suspect her?"
"Something's wrong with her," Kit said. "Something happened to her. She's too hard."
"Do you two believe Angelica's death was accidental?"
"Angelica went to The Spires because she had something of great value hidden there. Something worth a second attempt to regain. Possibly something which would give her a hold, an upper hand over Mrs. Oswald or Mrs. Hilton, or both. Angelica wasn't happy about giving up her husband, even if she did do it for the Carlson favor."
"You and your sister," Dunn went on, "have come a long way on the path you chose. The success of your plans is very close indeed. What would you two do to keep anything from happening to spoil your plans now?"
Mrs. Gelstrap giggled. "We'd do most anything. But not something stupid. Killing would be stupid."
Miss Wister handed Jim a sheet of paper with a few lines of typing on it as soon as they were alone in the small sunroom.
Jim tore the paper up. He smiled at her. "So much for the resignation. I don't know for sure what you've done to feel you should quit. But at a guess, I'd say it was because you moved Angelica's body."
Miss Wister looked at the shreds of paper. She sighed. "Thank you," she said. "Yes, one of the things I have to tell is that I moved Angelica. I wanted to see if I could do anything. I couldn't. She was dead, and the elevator platform was crushed down on her. I had to raise it to get her out."
"You said you were going to have a talk with Mrs. Oswald. Did you tell her that?"
"Yes."
Jim could understand now why the old woman had been so eager for him to make the investigation. Miss Wister would tell him how she had found the body. Death by accident would be a foregone conclusion, and Jim, as an apparently disinterested witness, would wield a big brush in applying the coat of whitewash to the remaining Carlsons.
"It's a simple enough and usual enough situation. My folks never had any money, even though there

Census Takers Will Visit Farms During November

You can expect a census taker to visit your farm sometime between November 1 and the first of the year.

He will be collecting information for the 1954 Census of Agriculture that the Federal Bureau of the Census sponsors every seven years on farms in all but seven states, according to farm economists at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Some time before the census taker visits you, you will get a copy of the survey questionnaire in your mail box. The University farm economists urge you to sit down for an evening or so and answer all of the questions before the census man arrives.

Answering the questions will take some time, they admit, but it will save time to have that much out of the way.

More than 30,000 takers will visit more than five million farms in the United States to collect information for the census. Each farmer will answer about 100 questions about his land, crops, livestock, farming methods, expenses, labor and equipment.

When all the information is collected, the Bureau of the Census will total the figures and release them. Individual farm and farmer secrets are kept by releasing only totals for counties or larger areas.

Linus Kiefer will supervise the southern district, with headquarters at Mt. Vernon; Roy A. Dilling, the Decatur field office; and Clarence W. Miller, the office at Bloomington. In addition, one supervisor will work out of Chicago.

The Mt. Vernon office will have 18 crew leaders and 282 enumerators. Decatur will have 19 crew leaders and 285 enumerators, and Bloomington will have 15 crew leaders and 210 enumerators.

Many of the people speak English, but Spanish is the popular language of the island of Puerto Rico.

"I am a Druggist...

"To best serve the people of this community I maintain a stock of carefully selected merchandise. To be able to recommend the best product for every need, it is part of my training to know the standards of quality and measures that have been established by science and experience. When I order goods my selection is based on the known merits of these widely recognized standards.
"Then I advertise to give people the news of my store. Because I know that nearly everybody reads a newspaper I use newspaper advertising regularly. When people pay for newspapers they read them carefully for all of the news that is interesting to them. When my ads are newsy and contain useful information I know that people will read them because they are news."

Another fact that merchants like about newspaper advertising is that they can buy it on the basis of known values that are just as definite as the measures of weight and quality that apply to merchandise which they handle.

Businessmen cannot afford to speculate with advertising. When they buy newspaper space they can make their investments on the strength of circulation facts and figures that are verified. It is good business practice to buy advertising by such methods just as it is good business to buy and sell merchandise on the basis of known standards.

Eagles Rally in Final Minutes For 20-14 Win

Score 13 Points
In 3½ Minutes to Beat W. Frankfort

Striking quickly via the air lanes for two TDs in the closing minutes of the game, Eldorado scored a thrilling 20-14 victory over West Frankfort's Red Birds last night.

"It was icing on the cake," a fine climax to Eldorado's homecoming celebration.

With almost certain defeat staring them in the face — the Eagles trailed 14-7 with less than four minutes to play — the Eldorado boys caught fire to score 13 points in the last three and one half minutes of the game for a victory.

All three Eldorado touchdowns were on the spectacular side — one on a 31-yard off tackle run, one on a pass that covered 56 yards and the last was a 30-yard pass play.

Eagles Score First
West Frankfort displayed a sound running game, built around Doty, a halfback with a tricky stride, who gained practically every time he carried the ball.

Midway in the first quarter Eldorado scored on a 31-yard jaunt by Acie Gwaltney.

Taking the ball on their own 31-yard line, Eldorado moved the ball to the W.F. 31, with a 19 yard Clark-to-Stroke pass, the biggest winner. Then Gwaltney broke into the open and raced across for the TD. Sutton circled end for the point. Earlier in the series of plays Sutton broke into the clear for a 63-yard scoring run that was nullified by a 5-yard penalty.

In the second frame Eldorado fumbled a couple of times and WF turned the opportunities into 14 points.

Frankfort Scoring Marches
Backed almost to their own goal line, Frankfort punted and recovered the fumbled ball near midfield. In four plays the visitors had scored, with Doty carrying over on a 39-yard run. Gore plunged for the point.

Not long after, with a fumble halting the Eagles, WF again staged a scoring march. Giffin sneaking through center for the TD and Burton carrying for the point.

The game remained scoreless until late in the last frame, although Frankfort threatened more than once, but an alert pass defense stopped the Red Birds.

Whittier intercepted a pass deep in scoring territory and ran it out to the 18 yard line to get Eldorado's score knotting drive underway.

Potts, Sutton and Gwaltney alternated to carry the ball to the 44-yard line, then Clark uncorked a long pass to Stroke for a TD and Sutton ran for the point, tying the score at 14 and the clock showed three and a half minutes left to play.

Play Cairo Next Friday
Frankfort took the kickoff on the 13, reeled off three first downs to move the ball to midfield. With 40 seconds left, the visitors started a passing attack. Two were incomplete and the third was intercepted by McClary, big guard, who rumbled about 20 yards to the 30 yard line.

On the first play Clark hit Whittier with a pass that meant the ball game. Whittier had pulled completely away from the defense, giving Clark a perfect target for the game-winning TD throw. When the clock stopped there were five seconds remaining. There was time for the kickoff, but the WF runner was downed quickly and the game was history.

There were heroes galore in those closing minutes and when the game was over each Eagle was busy giving credit to another. It was a team victory all the way.

Eldorado will close out the home season next Friday, entertaining Cairo.

Floyd Patterson Impressive in Win Over Joe Gannon

NEW YORK — Custer D'Amato, a story-book manager, still refused to "rush" light heavyweight contender Floyd Patterson today despite an easy victory in his first Madison Square Garden main event Friday night over speedy Joe Gannon of Washington, D. C.

Nineteen-year-old Patterson of Brooklyn, 170½, won a lopsided eight-round decision over the 174-pound former Washington policeman, who was on the deck with a broken nose at the final bell.

Because of Floyd's impressive showing in the nationally televised and broadcast bout, matchmakers at three metropolitan clubs today offered the 1952 Olympic middleweight champion good 10-round bouts for next month.

But the athletic, gray-haired D'Amato rejected them and declared firmly, "Floyd will continue to fight eight-rounders until I'm convinced he's ready for the longer distance. After all, he's only 19. Yes, I could get permission from the commission for 10-rounders now. But I won't rush him."

It was Patterson's 17th victory in 18 professional bouts. He is rated fourth among the world's 175-pound contenders.

Bull Dogs, Herrin Battle to 26 to 26 Tie

MAKE ROOM FOR TONY!—The above shots show the first touchdown which put Harrisburg out in front and the last one which gave the Bull Dogs a tie in their 26-26 contest with Herrin here last night. Tony Beal, fullback, made both tallies. Top photo shows touchdown No. 1, when Beal went four yards through a big hole made by the Bull Dog players. Beal is No. 45 in center and crouched blocking is Charles Polk, quarterback. Bull Dog in light suit at right is guard Jim Durham and at far left is Bull Dog Jim Williams. Official in foreground is C. L. Harris. Lower photo shows Beal going over from the one as Herrin players swarm him. Bull Dog player in front on ground is Polk and at right are Eddie Seright (40), Ron Williams (56) and Jack Dale (on ground looking toward play). At left on ground are Durham, Fred Kinsman and Ken Price. Herrin defender (15) is quarterback Jack Zwick. (Register Staff Photos)

Centralia Smashes Salem, 60-0, for Sixth in Row; East St. Louis Wins 27th

SPRINGFIELD — Centralia trampled Salem while Urbana and Aurora East suffered their first losses in feature Illinois prep football games Friday night.

Charleston, Charleston Eastern, Chenoa, East St. Louis, Elgin, Shelbyville, Sterling and Wheaton were among the teams that kept marching along with perfect unbeaten-undefeated season charts.

Quarterback Larry King passed for one touchdown and scored 14 points himself as Shelbyville white washed Litchfield 27-0. The Rams have a healthy lead now in the Mid-State conference.

Sterling's 20-7 victory over Ottawa broke a first-place deadlock between the two clubs in the northeast division of the North Central conference. Princeton nosed into the southwest division lead by blanking Geneseo 28-0.

Rocks Assume Lead
Rock Island walked over East Moline for a 30-0 win that gave the Rocks No. 1 berth in the Northwest conference.

Murphysboro, beaten only by Centralia this season, conquered Sparta 21-7 to edge nearer to another Southwestern Egyptian crown. Carbondale battled over Pinckneyville 34-0 and Chester dealt Du Quoin a 13-0 setback in other conference games.

Harrisburg and Herrin knotted things up at 26-26 in a South Seven conference clash. The only other league contest saw Mount Vernon spill Marion 19-7.

Speed Legal Work to Complete Purchase of A's

PHILADELPHIA — The prospective owners of the Philadelphia Athletics hoped today to wrap up detailed legal work to pave the way for quick approval of the sale of the club by American League President Will Harridge.

Attorneys for the eight local businessmen who agreed to buy the A's at an 11th hour meeting last Sunday and counsel for the Mack family have been working "night and day" to complete work on formal sale papers, including the transfer of stock.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the whole thing signed and delivered by tomorrow," John P. Criscenti, one of the new owners, said Friday night.

Crescenti, a sportsman and automobile agency executive, said the group "met earlier this week and discussed sending a delegation to Chicago to see Mr. Harridge, but things are going so smoothly that it looks as though we will not have to go out."

Harridge, meanwhile, said in Chicago he was still waiting for completion of the involved negotiations, adding that he had talked to Roy Mack by telephone and learned there was still "work to be done on the contract."

Things looked disastrous early in the third quarter as Herrin scored two touchdowns the first minute and 40 seconds. Lawrence took the opening kickoff on his 15 and raced 85 yards to score and the extra point was good on a smash. Then Harrisburg fumbled on a short kick and Herrin recovered on the 50. Two plays took the ball 11 yards and Law scored on a 29-yard pass by Lawrence. Law also caught a pass for the extra point and the count was 26 to 13.

Beal Scores Three Touchdowns; Final TD in Last 23 Seconds

Coach Lawrence Calufetti's Bull Dog iron men last night battled to a 26 to 26 tie with the Herrin Tigers in a South Seven conference football battle of offense at Taylor Field. The tying Bull Dog touchdown came in the last 23 seconds of play and the extra point was missed.

The middle of the Bull Dog line was great as it coped with a running attack that featured Bill Lawrence, big halfback who is the leading scorer in southern Illinois this year.

Lawrence scored two touchdowns last night but Tony Beal, Bull Dog fullback, did him one better. The big, solid junior played the greatest game of his career and established himself as probably the best fullback in southern Illinois.

Here is what Tony did: He scored three of the four Harrisburg touchdowns and passed to Gary Trammel for the other. He caught a pass for one of the two extra points. He carried the ball 23 times and made 107 yards from scrimmage for an average 4.3 yards per try. He threw forward passes that connected for yardages of 41, 36, 14, 13, 10, 9, 9, 7 and four yards.

Only Three Substitutions
But the iron men, especially the boys in the middle, made Tony's gains possible — boys like Jack Dale, Jim Durham and Ronnie Williams.

Calufetti used only three substitutions during the grueling contest. Richard Hess replaced Ken Price in the line on defense at all times and Fred McKenzie was going in as a sub for Jack Wright on offense and for both Wright and Charles Polk on defense. Everett Evans gave Fred Kinsman a breathing spell once in the third quarter. That meant that Eddie Seright and Jim Williams at ends, Durham and Dale at guards, Ron Williams at center, and Gary Trammel and Beal in the backfield played the entire game without rest.

It was definitely the best offense in fact, the best game — the Bull Dogs have played all year. They rolled up an amazing number of first downs, 18, to seven for Herrin. The locals made a net 178 yards rushing, 139 yards passing for a total 317 yards from scrimmage. They completed nine out of 16 forward passes. They were penalized 40 yards.

Locals Score First
Herrin made a net 79 yards rushing and 160 passing for 239 from scrimmage. The Tigers passed nine times, connecting four times. They were penalized 42 yards, 27 of them coming with less than a minute left in the game.

Lawrence was really a big gun in their attack.

The Bull Dogs scored first, taking the opening kickoff and making four straight first downs with a pass. Beal to Seright for 14 yards and an 11-yard run by Trammel being the longest gains, they moved to the four, where Beal went over. McKenzie's kick was no good.

Herrin came back quickly. Back on its own 17 Lawrence threw a screen pass to Hamilton, fullback, who had some nice blocking to get into the clear. Then he went the 33 yards to score and the count was 6 to 6.

Herrin went ahead minutes later in the same period when Harrisburg fumbled the kickoff and the Tiger recovered on the 36. After two running plays lost 12 yards, a 34-yard pass took the piskin to the Harrisburg 14. Lawrence made 12 to the two, then went over and Herrin led 12-6.

Bull Dogs Go Ahead
In the second period Harrisburg went ahead after moving from its own 46. A 26-yard pass, Beal to Polk, took the ball to the 11 and after getting to the 4, Beal passed to Trammel in the end zone. A pass, Polk to Beal, was good and Harrisburg led, 13 to 12, the score at halftime.

Things looked disastrous early in the third quarter as Herrin scored two touchdowns the first minute and 40 seconds. Lawrence took the opening kickoff on his 15 and raced 85 yards to score and the extra point was good on a smash. Then Harrisburg fumbled on a short kick and Herrin recovered on the 50. Two plays took the ball 11 yards and Law scored on a 29-yard pass by Lawrence. Law also caught a pass for the extra point and the count was 26 to 13.

Homecoming Events At Eldorado A Great Success

Eldorado's homecoming was staged over the past two days and perfect weather helped make the affair a great success.

Friday afternoon a parade of some twenty-five units, headed by the school band, paraded through the streets, starting at the high school and continuing to the Locust-Fourth streets intersection where a band concert and pep meeting was held.

Last night at half-time of the ball game, won by Eldorado 20-14, the prize winning floats, with the Queens' car heading the procession, circled the football field.

Homecoming Queen June Harrawood and her attendants rode in an open car, followed by decorated cars representing the "Old Grads" and photo club and floats entered by the Future Farmers of America, Science club and French club, school organizations.

Following the game last night there was a dance in the school gym.

What a wonderful existence mankind would have if all the troubles and problems of this world could be dumped into a magician's hat—and then with a "presto, chango" they would all vanish.

Or, if you had such power, wouldn't it be marvelous to rid yourself of all personal worries?

But by our very nature, we are imperfect. While going it alone, we are incapable of perfect deeds and decisions.

Fortunately, there is a Greater Being than ourselves who stands ready and anxious to help us. To Him we must look for guidance and faith. And it is through His Church, here on earth, that we can best come to understand His will.

Attend Church this Sunday and every Sunday. Here, in spite of all our weaknesses, we will become stronger men and women. Here, we will learn to face the future with a surer understanding of right and wrong.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) Which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Guidance for Family Living'

Proverbs 4:6-20; 7:27
GOLDEN TEXT: "My son, keep thy father's commandments and forsake not the law of thy mother." (Prov. 6:20)

INTRODUCTION: The United States of America has no greater need than that of stronger families. Greater than the need for stronger armed forces is our need for stronger family ties. Strengthening of military foundations is not nearly so much needed as the strengthening of family foundations.

The home is the place for the teaching and training of children. This, the Bible teaches. This, our forefathers did. Too many mothers and fathers today leave the entire child training to the school teachers. In many states the law will not even permit Bible reading in public schools. The very moral and spiritual foundation of American home life is at the crumbling point. The time has come when we must think seriously on these matters.

I. WHAT ABOUT DAD? (Proverbs 4:1-2, 4)
Divine wisdom is the most precious heirloom a family can possess. Solomon transmits to his son the wisdom his father had given to him. He also handed down fortune and fame, but he says that the greatest inheritance is that of wisdom. Fortune and fame may fade or be lost entirely, but not wisdom.

DAD IS THE TEACHER: Estimates and worldly goods are handed down from father to son by acts of law. Wisdom is handed down from father to son by acts of personal interest and guidance. Dad, your house is a greater school for sons and daughters than any public school room or college classroom. And, by the way, you are teaching in your home whether you know it or not. Your children are learning from you. What kind of teaching are you doing? The Master Teacher will ask for an accounting one day.

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." (Prov. 22:6) will not depart from it." (Prov. 22:6) You may be sure that no person will ever get completely away from what he learns in childhood.

Fathers, you are to give your children religious instruction. You cannot very well do this unless you first have the religious knowledge to impart to your children. Instead of sending them to Sunday School and church on Sunday, you should take them. You can then better prepare yourself to influence them.

II. WHAT ABOUT MOTHER? (Proverbs 31:10-31)

The mother has equally as great a responsibility in influencing her children. She instills in their hearts such graces as beauty, loveliness, kindness and faithfulness.

The characteristics of a good mother are given in Proverbs 31. No greater tribute to mother has ever been written. The author of these Proverbs recalls that his own mother had warned him against loose-living and drunkenness. She had told him to always lend a helping hand to the needy.

Beginning in the tenth verse we are given the characteristics of a woman that would make a good wife and mother. Blessed are the children whose mothers are described in these verses.

She is trustworthy, industrious, thrifty, strong, loving, gracious in speech and filled with true religion. Her reward: (1) She has good influence. "Her husband is known in the gates." She helps him to honor. (2) She is successful. Her energies are used to bring about welfare and happiness in her home. (3) She brings honor to her family. "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." Surely this is a better reward than public fame. (4) She has continued influence. This true woman deserves to have "the fruit of her hands."

CONCLUSION: The family is a compact unit. Dad has his place as head of the household to teach, train and influence his family. Mother has her place in imparting by her gentle influence the graces of kindness and love to her family. The children help to make up this unit. Their responsibility is to work as a part of the family team. Boys and girls you can best do this by "Honoring your fathers and mothers."

Remember, friends, as goes our homes so goes our nation.
